

Claybelt Chronicles

Memories gathered from Temiskaming Seniors
by the Little Claybelt Homesteaders Museum

Volume FOUR of a series of volumes has been prepared from interviews with seniors who have roots in, or who have lived in, South Temiskaming most of their lives. They have connections with the pioneer families who first came to the area between 1890 and 1940. Each volume will contain approximately 40 interviews and will include a photo taken at the time of the interview or from some other source. We anticipate at least five volumes but this project could be ongoing for several more years.

The interviews were taken by a number of museum personnel or summer students starting in 2006 and there are at least 200 interviews completed. The interviews were videotaped and as well an audio tape was recorded at the same time. The tapes were then downloaded into the computers and then transcribed verbatim. They were then edited by taking out the questions that were asked and the text re-arranged into the first person so that it reflected their own story as though they were just telling it themselves. During the editing, some of the irrelevant side issues were removed, but the text was generally documented as spoken. Some of the grammatical errors or expressions remained to reflect the person telling their own story.

Each volume of 40 interviews will be indexed alphabetically by the married names, with the female maiden names in brackets. These maiden names will also be indexed alphabetically for easy reference. As each volume is released the index for all volumes will updated on the website for easier reference and genealogical research.

Volumes One, Two, & Three are available now from Chat Noir or the Museum (Copies may also be picked up by appointment by calling 647-7200 or 647-5424 during the winter.)
